Subject: Issue 304
From: Van Snyder

1   Introduction

In issue 304, the editor notes that the term "name" is used inappropriately. In many cases it should be "entity" or "object". This paper at least corrects the situation for "associate names" (which now become "associate entities"). In the bigger picture, essentially all "construct entities" are "construct objects", and perhaps ought to be referred to as such.

Edits refer to 01-007. Page and line numbers are displayed in the margin. Absent other instructions, a page and line number or line number range implies all of the indicated text is to be replaced by immediately following text, while a page and line number followed by + (-) indicates that immediately following text is to be inserted after (before) the indicated line. Remarks are noted in the margin, or appear between [and] in the text.

J3 internal note	341:5+
Unresolved issue xxx The terms "construct entity" and "associating entity" always denote objects. Perhaps they should be "construct object" and "associating object". This appears to affect only sections 8 and 14, and annex A.
